

The Acceptable Use of Information Assets Policy applies to all members of Altaira and assets owned or operated by Altaira. This policy applies to all uses of Information Assets for any purpose, including commercial.

The following are examples of Information Assets:

- Hardware: computers, mobile devices, phones and fax machines.
- Software: operating systems, applications (including Web-based apps), utilities, firmware and programming languages.
- Data: structured data in relational databases, flat files and NoSQL data; unstructured data such as text documents, spreadsheets, images, video and audio files; records in any format.
- Networks: wired and wireless networks; telecommunications systems; voice over IP services.
- Services: cloud services, email accounts and other hosted services.

Acceptable use of information and other associated assets means using information assets in ways that do not put at risk the availability, reliability, or integrity of data, services or resources. It also means using them only for legitimate business purposes and in ways that do not violate laws or Altaira's policies.
